Your Organization's network and systems infrastructure continues to evolve. Your dependence on its ability to perform as promised is critical. At the same time, it has never been more important to leverage these assets, drive additional value, and identify cost savings.

Plexeon Logistics Network Assessment and Verification services can help your company realize its full network potential by conducting a comprehensive analysis on your data, voice, and video infrastructure(s).

We provide a prompt assessment of your network's current status by mapping the topology of the network, verifying the integrity of the assets within the infrastructure, conducting traffic and congestion analysis, and identifying any vulnerability that may be present.

Each of these areas of analysis will provide us with absolute data about your network - where bottlenecks may reside, excess bandwidth, security concerns, and utilization. Of key import is to identify how the overall network performs relative to Service Level Agreements (SLA) and contracts your organization pays for annually.

Plexeon can help your firm feel confident in the services and equipment being purchased - enabling the company to meet current demand and position the company for continued growth.

Our Services are extensive and primarily address two key areas: Technical and Financial. During the Technology Review we document the enterprise design and operating procedures using our proven methodology. Our methodology is comprehensive and includes business discovery, current state assessment, gap analysis, solution design, planning, and implementation.

Of equal import, we analyze the total costs of the network in excruciating detail during the Financial Review to drive additional value and bottom-line savings in both the data and voice service areas.

After the network environment has been successfully engineered and vendors have provided the necessary revisions to all contracts, we will present our findings and recommendations to you.

We then perform a knowledge transfer to your organization to better enable you to monitor the integrity of the modifications, as well as, the committed cost agreements.

Your Benefits from our services are both strategic and tactical. We will help your organization reduce the total costs of communications and any risk of expensive errors associated with the network design. Strategically, the goal is to align the business-critical demands of the organization with the cost of the overall infrastructure.

Plexeon Logistics is highly skilled at driving value and savings to your bottom line. We have extensive experience in network audits and assessments and can bring all our expertise to bear for your project.
